

SMOKESTREAM™

A complete line of natural smoke flavors for the meat industry.

Flavourstream Americas offers a range of natural wood-smoked flavors that deliver an authentic traditional smoked taste for a wide variety of meat applications. Designed for atomizing, vaporization, drenching, tumbling, injection, and meat emulsions, these solutions provide rich smoky notes ranging from strong hickory profiles to earthy mesquite styles. Available in liquid, powder, and oil formats, the flavors are easy to incorporate into existing processing systems while ensuring consistent flavor performance. Their versatility makes them well suited for manufacturers seeking reliable traditional wood-smoked character across different meat products and processing methods.

ADVANTAGES

More consistent color for greater consumer appeal.

Increased shelf life due to antimicrobial properties.

Lower cleaning costs in the smoking area.

Traditional wood-smoked flavor with strong consumer appeal.

Improved plant safety by eliminating open flames from the production area.

Cleaner processing with no smokehouse emissions.

The SmokeStream™ product range can help achieve the traditional color, appearance, and the wood-smoked taste desired in smoked food products. In addition, selected SmokeStream™ products are designed to increase the shelf life of a wide range of meat, fish, poultry, and delicatessen products.
